PUNAHOU NEEDED FOURTEEN INNING GAME TO DEFEAT MARINES

It took just fourteen innings before Punahou could bring enough men across the home plate to defeat the Marines, or in other words, the Marine, yesterday afternoon. After less than half that number of innings had been played of the H.A.C.S.-Elks game, Umpire Bowers called the game on account of darkness, and the Honolulu stood winners 8-4.

The day was a good one for baseball and the grandstand was filled to overflowing. The diamond has been improved greatly since last season. A velvety carpet of green covering the infield and the entire out-field.

The band was present throughout both games. There was a good opportunity to size-up the teams yesterday, and in several cases there were surprises.

The Marines have certainly filled the places of the Mallees and they made a most favorable impression on their first appearance. Their pitcher, Roberts, is a man to be reckoned with and he has no equal among the League pitchers for nipping men off their bases. The team as a whole, plays in a rather automatic manner, and seems to need a little ginger, but that they can give a good account of themselves is generally conceded. The Punahou appear to be able to keep up last season's record, and under the able guidance of Captain Steere should make a strong bid for the championship.

The Elks were somewhat of a disappointment.

If yesterday's team is the representative Elks team it will need considerable improving to equal last year's team. The places vacated by Knight, Kennedy and Ferne do not seem to have been filled as yet. Their new pitcher Zamloch, while he has a good reputation on the Coast, did not seem to live-up to yesterday, but as this is his first appearance, the future may see considerable improvement after the nervousness of surroundings has worn off.

The H. A. C. S. appear to have gathered together a better aggregation of hitters than they had last year, without sacrificing the playing of the team as a whole. They played good ball yesterday, and landed for hits seemingly at will. Joy had good control over his ball, but was not forced at any time during the game.

The games by innings are as follows:

BARRY KNOCKS OUT KELLY IN LIVELY RING BATTLE

"Cyclone" Kelly, the man imported from San Francisco in a vain effort to take the Hawaiian championship away from Dave Barry, met a knockout at the Orpheum last night after seven rounds of furious slugging. A crowd which filled every available bit of space in the Orpheum watched Barry driving forceful knocks into the San Francisco man's wind with the result that even such a hardy scrapper as Kelly had to succumb.

Kelly was about Barry's height, had narrower shoulders, a deeper chest and a pair of eyes—wild looking blue orbs that gazed in two directions at one time. He agreed to fight Barry, whom "Billy" Woods had put in the pink of condition, fifteen rounds for a decision under straight Marquis of Queensbury rules which meant hitting in clinches and protecting one's self in the breakaway.

From start to finish the fight was a series of clinches, slugging in the same, and swinging in the breakaways. Jimmy Fox refereed the match and was kept busy.

In the first round both men did some good blocking, Barry playing for the wind and Kelly for the head. The work of the round was "feeling."

Round two found the men huddled together. Barry playing a lively and dangerous tattoo on "Cyclone's" wind. The latter adopted a sideways, crouching method of clinching which brought out the remark from Barry, "Where did you learn that? In Philadelphia?" And Barry introduced the "Honolulu style," a series of drum beating on Kelly's body, jolts on the jaw, and nerve-racking cuts across Kelly's side. Kelly got in a swing or two but got a left to jaw from Barry which sent him sprawling on the floor. Before the count was completed the gong sounded the end of the round.

The third was a repetition of the second. Barry made tremendous onslaughts on his opponent's wind. "Cyclone" appeared to be jockeying for time in which to regain his wind, finding the floor twice, and on the last knockdown being saved from counted out by the gong.

Kelly turned up fresh for the fourth round. He rushed things and did almost as good work as Barry, but the latter's sledge-hammer pounding on Kelly's stomach continued.

The fifth opened with a sharp interchange of swings and then turned into a perfect hurricane, Barry knocking his opponent to the floor twice, rushing him all around the ring, and landing on him dozens and dozens of times.

Kelly came up for the sixth with a loose glove. The referee fixed this up. Kelly appeared to have regained some wind but lost this to Barry's tattoos in short order and finally found a comfortable place on the floor. He took the count and then went at it again until the gong closed the round. It was Barry's round.

"Cyclone" rushed Barry at the opening of the seventh, failed to land, and then suffered severe punishment through blows to jaw and body. During a rapid interchange Barry found time to reply to some one who shouted from the audience. Advice was given to Kelly to use a certain blow. Quick as lightning Barry replied, "Save that for Mike Patton!" Then his fist shot out and Kelly lay on the floor. Kelly came up promptly and was rushed around at a lively clip. Barry pounded time and again on his body and finally a series of lightning-like pats to head, ribs, and under the stomach put Kelly on the floor. He was counted out.

Kelly had put up a good fight but could not stand the severe punishment meted out by the hardy fighter who has improved a bit day by day during his long stay in Honolulu. Barry is now a splendid fighting machine, as tough as iron, and as quick as any one to be found around here.

The preliminaries were poor. In round two of a small sized slugging match Ernest Heine knocked out Frank Johnson, a boy who was fighting his first fight.

Tom Mattox and Sydney Jackson put on a little farce which ended in the second act by Jackson lying on the floor until the referee had graciously counted him out. It was a case of "hit me soft and I will hit you softer," accompanied by the hissing of almost every person present.

Joe Modlin, a Camp McKinley soldier, knocked out Neill, a small but pretty fighter, after but a few seconds of lively slugging.

the bases were full. En Sue struck out. Williams brought in Clark and J. Fernandez on a base hit to center. E. Fernandez and Williams were brought home on a two-base hit by Louis, who went to third on a wild pitch of Zamloch's. Joy knocked a fly to second. Kiley flew out to right.

FIFTH INNING.
Bushnell went out, second to first. Anderson flew out to Leslie and Russell went out on a fly to left. Leslie flew out to second. Clark and J. Fernandez struck out.

SIXTH INNING.
Cunha went out, second to first, and White was given his base. Kaai hit to right. Wilbur and Kia struck out. E. Fernandez went out, pitcher to first; En Sue third to first, and Williams second to first.

SEVENTH INNING.
Zamloch was safe on an error by third, reached second on a passed ball, and stole third. Bushnell made a base hit. Anderson made a two-bagger, bringing in Zamloch. Bushnell came in on a wild throw by Louis. Russell struck out. Cunha sacrificed and White struck out.

At this point Umpire Bowers called the game on account of darkness. The H. A. C. S. stood winners, 8-4.
